Latest Developments

ISIS in south Damascus published photos of its execution of Palestinian refugee, “Emad Al-Oraby,” who is father to a three-year-old child, and resident of Street 15 in Yarmouk camp. According to ISIS, the execution came as a punishment for “self-deification of God.”

Our correspondent in the camp could not confirm the accuracy of the information published by "ISIS" from other sources.

ISIS in Yarmouk camp had executed a number of Palestinian refugees under different pretexts, including spying with the armed Syrian opposition.

Also in south Damascus, ISIS's so called "Medical Office" issued a publication called a "medical bag," calling on the residents of Yarmouk camp to prepare for emergencies.

According to the publication that was distributed in Yarmouk camp, the medical bag consists of the most important tools needed for emergency cases, including medicine, medical and emergency tools, food and children and infant necessities.

On their part, the residents of Yarmouk camp confirmed that ISIS does not provide them with any of those materials and has not opened medical points for their treatment. At the same time, the Syrian regime continues to tighten its siege on Yarmouk camp, preventing the return of the people or the entry of medical and ambulatory materials.

In the same context, the Palestinian emergency committee in south Damascus warned of a catastrophic fate of civilians, if Yarmouk camp is bombarded, as a result of the military escalation between the regime and ISIS.

The committee was formed of Palestinian figures and representatives of the Palestinian organizations and bodies, to follow up on the latest developments regarding the Palestinian refugees in Yarmouk camp and the neighboring towns of south Damascus; Yelda, Babilla and Beit Sahm.

In Greece, the Action Group received calls sent by the Palestinian refugees on the Greek island of Chios, where they demanded that the Greek authorities provide their basic living necessities, in order to guarantee their personal dignities.

According to the refugees, about 150 Palestinian and Syrian refugees were distributed to one of the shelters, that lacked rooms or private areas for the women, girls and families, raising anger among the refugees and pushing them to organize a sit in on one of the nearby
