Latest Developments

For the fourth consecutive day, Yarmouk camp for Palestinian refugees in Damascus has been bombarded continuously with the Russian and Syrian airplanes and artillery rockets, where the Russian and Syrian warplanes launched more than 80 air raids targeting the neighborhoods of Yarmouk camp, Al-Hajar Al-Aswad and Al-Tadamon in south Damascus and more than 100 sorties were flown in the area.

The helicopters threw more than 30 explosive barrels on the neighborhoods of Yarmouk camp and Al-Hajar Al-Aswad, while more than 45 surface-to-surface “elephant” missiles and hundreds of rocket and mortar shells fell, in conjunction with the intense flight of reconnaissance aircrafts.

The regime forces and the Palestinian Liberation Army bombarded the buildings with sweeping 77-UR, high impact swivel hoses, which was manufactured to detonate the mines planted on the roads. According to eye witness accounts, the bombardments caused large-scale destruction to the residential neighborhoods and fires in the civilian houses.

While activists and residents of Yarmouk camp criticized the international and Palestinian silence in front of the bloodshed of Palestinian refugees in Yarmouk camp, and the systematic destruction of residential neighborhoods by the Syrian and Russian regimes.

They also demanded through the social network pages, the international institutions, the PLO and the Palestinian factions to move to neutralize civilians and save the remaining infrastructure in the besieged Yarmouk camp.

In the same context, the Syrian regime forces and Palestinian factions loyal to it announced that they captured Palestinian “Wassim Ghoneim,” one of the fighters of ISIS, on the axis of Yelda - Zein neighborhood. Ghoneim left ISIS six months ago, and was fighting alongside Hayat Tahrir Al-Sham before it.

For its part, the Syrian regime and the Palestinian factions’ official social media pages published pictures that confirmed his capture by the Syrian regime forces.

On his part, the Director General of the Political Department of the PLO in Syria, Ambassador “Anwar Abd El-Hady,” said that the Syrian air strikes on the positions of ISIS in Yarmouk camp, continues to this moment.

Abd El-Hady added to the “Sout Palestine” radio station, that the Syrian State confirmed its keenness to distance its strikes from the residential areas and to maintain the infrastructure in the Yarmouk camp. Abd El-Hady noted that the number of Palestinian refugees remaining in the camp does not exceed 200-300 refugees, meaning that the majority have fled the camp.

Abd El-Hady mentioned that the Syrian airstrikes continued, amid ISIS's refusal to commit to the agreement reached lately, because there are references to them asking them not to come out, and the presence of conflicts between them, noting the continuity of communication with the Syrian State.

On its part, the Association of Muslim Scholars Abroad condemned with the strongest terms, the continued air raids performed by the Russian and Syrian warplanes on Yarmouk camp and the southern region of Damascus, for the fourth day. The Association indicated that thousands of the Palestinian and Syrian people are still besieged under the bombardments with rockets and explosive barrels that do not calm, unable to bury their martyrs. Many martyrs are still under the rubble.

In its statement which reached the Action Group, the Association stressed that the chaotic bombardments targeting Yarmouk camp are criminal acts performed by the Syrian regime, along with Russia and Iran, and that this condemned crime targeting the Palestinian people and Yarmouk camp, which is the capital of the Palestinian diaspora, is a blatant aggression on the Palestinian cause as a whole, and it exposes the lies of the resistance and opposition, which is sung by those who killed the Palestinian and Syrian people equally. This comes in the framework of working on the liquidation of the right of return, which is only in the service of the Zionist enemy.

The Association did not expect the official Palestinian silence, following the horrific crime, and demanded everyone to move rapidly to put an end to this massacre and save the lives of thousands of civilians, who are being exterminated in Yarmouk camp and its surrounding areas, warning everyone of the consequences of their abandonment of their people and leaving them in the face of death and destruction alone.

The Association called on the Palestinian people inside Palestine and beyond it, in the camps and gatherings, to move to protest against the horrific massacre against Yarmouk camp and its people, and to interact with all the available means, to bring the voice of those trapped under the bombardment to the whole world.

In the conclusion of its statement, the Association called on the Islamic World to move urgently to save what remains of Yarmouk camp and its people, and to provide the financial and psychological support needed.

In the meantime, the European Wafaa Campaign called on all military parties to an immediate cessation of hostilities in Yarmouk camp and its surrounding in the south of the Syrian capital, Damascus. The Campaign demanded in its statement, of which a copy reached the Action Group, a humanitarian truce and the opening of safe corridors to allow the exit of civilians from the camp, and called for the the treatment of civilian casualties and the burial of victims.

The Campaign confirmed in its statement its willingness to begin providing emergency relief assistance to the people of Yarmouk
