Victims

The Palestinian Refugee "Ahmad Mahmoud Aziema" died at the entrance area of Yarmouk camp which is under the Regime's control. Ahmad was fighting alongside the Syrian Regime forces and its militias against Al-Nusra Front and ISIS inside the camp.

It is noteworthy that the bad economic conditions and the exploitations of some factions in addition to the high rate of unemployment had pushed many Palestinian refugees to join the Pro-Regime militias, not forgetting that there are other segments which are officially inducted by the Syrian Security Branches and instructed to play a specific role in the field.

AGPS statistics refer to (681) Palestinian Syrian victims died during participation in Pro-Regime clashes in Syria.

Recent Update

At dawn, the Yarmouk Refugees Camp has witnessed bombing with several shells and mortars which caused no more than material damages, in conjunction with violent clashes occurred at the Camps' entrance between the Syrian Regime's groups and its militias on one hand and Al-Nusra and ISIS on the other hand.

The "Medical Rescue and Surgery Centre" announced, earlier, a severe shortage in medical and first-aid supplies, caused many patients and injured persons to be left without medication. Those in charge of the center assured that the medical and relief associations have left them behind without enough support to the last medical point that could save people's lives inside the besieged refugees camp.

The census of remaining civilians inside Yarmouk refugees camp refers to 3000 to 5000 people, suffer acute shortage of medical services due to the siege imposed by the Syrian Regime forces and its militias and PFLP-GC and due to the non-stop targeting and shelling that hit the hospitals and medical buildings causing major damages to its facilities, and after ISIS broke into the refugees camp the situation got worse because of targeting medical staff and closing relief outlets.

In a different place, Syrian Regime's warplanes launched, yesterday evening, raids on Khan Eshieh Camp and threw explosive barrels over the adjacent farms where three at least were hit caused panic among the civilians inside the refugees' camp.

This comes under harsh living conditions experienced after the Regime's Army closed all roads between the camp and the center of the capital Damascus, which reflected negatively on the mobility of people and the availability of food and basic needs within the refugees' camp.

Moving to Lebanon, The family of the Palestinian Syrian refugee "Mohammad Yusuf Mousa" who has been detained by the Lebanese government for 3 day, appealed to the Palestinian Embassy and Palestinian Factions and UNRWA to take action and help releasing their son who was arrested for not having residence permission.

The family said that "our son is facing unsanitary conditions given that he's got amputated feet and needs special care", accusing the Lebanese Government of unjustified procrastination as her son "Mohammad" had already started the process of renewing his residence permission on the very next day after the governmental instructions in Sidon.

Holding the Palestinian ambassador in Lebanon and the Palestinian factions full responsibility for their son, the family assured that "Mohammad" had been following up with the authorities for a while to get his renewal despite of the harsh treatment, but finally he couldn't get any receipt or approval that his papers are being processed to show to Lebanese Security at checkpoints.

It is noteworthy that the Lebanese authorities had launched arbitrary arrests campaign which affected dozens of Palestinian Syrian refugees at the entrance of Ain El-Hilweh Camp under the pretext of not having residence permits although most of them had given papers to General Security for renewal.

According to semi-official statistics, the estimated census of Palestinian Syrian refugees in Lebanon is (45,000) people, while most of them suffer hard conditions especially after UNRWA's aid reduction and Lebanese security persecutions.

Civil Committees

As part of "Al-Marhama Campaign" activities, the "The Charity Association to Support the Palestinian People" in cooperation with "The Charity Association to Relief the Palestinian People" has distributed 300 cans of children's milk to Palestinian Syrian families in Al-Zahira and Qudsayya in Damascus.

It is worth mentioning that hundreds of families of the Yarmouk camp had been displaced from their homes after ISIS broke into the camp last April, this comes in light of the continuing siege imposed by the Regime's army and groups of the Popular Front PFLP-GC three years ago which caused death to 184 victims of hunger and lack of medical care.

In Turkey, the "Palestinians of Turkey Committee" distributed some cash aid and winter clothes to Palestinian Syria families in Konya in the middle of Turkey. The committee assured that "Winter Clothing" project comes in cooperation with "Life Road Association" to cover Konya - in which 27 Palestinian families live - and some other cities in Turkey which refugees live in.

It is noteworthy that Palestinians of Syria in Turkey are facing many life difficulties especially the high rents and the lack of job opportunities. Unofficial statistics counted 3000 to 5000 Palestinian Refugees displaced from Syria to Turkey, not counting those who passed from turkey while heading to Europe.

Moving to Netherlands, the "Palestinian House in Netherlands" Foundation visited, yesterday, the Emergency Centre of refugees in Amsterdam "ZUIDOOS". According to the Palestinian House, a delegation of few members visited the center to welcome the Palestinian Syrian newcomers and look after their needs if any, and listen to their problems, besides, giving them useful tips and explanations in regards to their new situation in Netherlands.

It is noteworthy to say that Netherlands is one of the most prominent destinations for refugees fleeing from the war in Syria to seek security and a decent life.
