Graffiti condemning the Syrian regime was sprayed on the walls of AlNeirab Camp for Palestinian refugees, in the northern Syrian province of Aleppo.

The residents said anti-regime slogans were sprayed by anonymous parties. They expressed fears that an arrest sweep would be launched in the next few hours.

Liwaa AlQuds armed group, affiliated with the Syrian regime, has reportedly launched a secret investigation to chase down the parties involved in graffiti spraying.

Meanwhile, the Turkish authorities seized the passport and the kimlik temporary protection card along with the work permit of Palestinian refugee Nour AlDeen Abu Seyam, who was displaced from Syria.

Abu Seyam said he has been left without travel documents since mid-June and denied access out of the Turkish territories. He risks to be deported to Syria in mid-August.

Abu Seyam, who fled Yarmouk Camp, south of Damascus, to Turkey, said Turkish police detained him in Istanbul and took away his travel documents on claims that he does not hold an inter-state movement permit.

Turkish police transferred the refugee to a deportation centre and seized his Palestinian passport and work permit. He was also stripped off from all of his personal belongings, including his mobile phone.

The refugee appealed to the Palestinian Embassy to take urgent action and pressurize the Turkish authorities to hand him back his travel documents.

In the meantime, Palestinian refugees from Syria joined a vigil held in the Swedish city of Helsenbury in solidarity with the beleaguered Gaza Strip.

Protesters called for an immediate cessation of Israeli aggressions on Gaza, which claimed the lives of scores of civilians, including children.

Representatives of the Social Democratic Party, the Left Party, the Communist Party and the Nyans Party participated in the rally.

In another development, UNRWA in Syria said it will start distributing cash grants to Palestinian refugees as of August 15.

Vulnerable Palestinian refugees sheltered in Damascus will be receiving 112,000 Syrian pounds and an additional 17,000 as a flour allowance.

Families whose living conditions are worse will be receiving 173,000 Syrian pounds.

Refugees sheltered in other provinces across Syria will get 112,000 or 156,000 depending on their condition.

Eleven years after demonstrations started in Syria, some 438,000 Palestinian refugees remain in the war-torn country, where they have been grappling with an abject humanitarian situation.

UNRWA data indicates that over half of the Palestine refugees in the country have been displaced at least once because of the brutal conflict that ensued, including 120,000 who have sought safety in neighbouring countries, mainly Lebanon and Jordan, and beyond.

Over 80% of PRS live in extreme poverty and rely on humanitarian assistance as their main source of income. 86% of PRS households are reported to be in debt.
