Victims

Palestinian refugee “Mohammed Adnan Qobea,” from the ranks of the Palestine Liberation Army, has died while participating in the ongoing fighting in the eastern Ghouta, in the suburbs of Damascus.

Meanwhile, Palestinian “Mohammed Nedal Foura,” member of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine - General Command, died on the 9th of April 2018, while fighting alongside the Syrian regime forces, in the ongoing clashes in Duma, in the eastern Ghouta.

Latest Developments:

ISIS, which is in control of large areas in Yarmouk camp for Palestinian refugees in Damascus, has forced the residents of the Martyrs' Sector neighborhood in the camp, to leave their houses.

According to our correspondent, members of ISIS forced the residents in the buildings extending from Loubia Street to Yarmouk Secondary School for Girls, to leave their homes under the threat of weapons. At the same time, ISIS announced the Martyrs' Sector a closed military zone.

There were also reports that some of the families were forced to leave their homes, and head to the nearby town of Yelda.

This comes as the Syrian regime and its pro-Palestinian groups continue to mobilize their forces at the entrances of Yarmouk. Media sources close to the Syrian regime stated that military crowds of the Syrian regime forces and the National Defense Forces, headed to the Tadamon neighborhood and the entrance of Yarmouk camp the day before yesterday, in preparation for a new military operation aimed at controlling the entire southern region; Yarmouk camp, Tadamon, Al-Hajar Al-Aswad and Al-Qadam, in which ISIS and Hayat Tahrir Al-Sham have spread their forces.

In another context, the Palestine Liberation Army announced that it retrieved 6 of its members; “Ahmed Ziad Al-Khatib,” “Mofeed Majid Qadoura,” “Ahmed Sabry Shaaban,” “Mahmoud Adnan Qabila,” “Abd Al-Latif Mahmoud Saeed” and “Mohammed Mahmoud Moussa.”

They were kidnapped by Jaish Al-Islam in Duma, in the eastern Ghouta. The Liberation Army added that the return of its abducted members was part of the agreement reached by with the Syrian Government in Duma, which rules of liberating all of the kidnapped, in exchange for releasing the members of Jaish Al-Islam and their families, to the city of Jarabulus, in the northern suburbs of Aleppo.

In another context, the Syrian security forces released Palestinian refugee, “Samir Hourany,” after he was detained for about three months, on charges of smuggling youth wanted by the Syrian security, from the Neirab camp. Hourany was the Mayor of the camp five years ago, before he was charged and arrested.
