Latest Developments

Palestinian student Akram Mohamed Othman got a score of 3100/3100 as part of 9th grade exams in Syria. The results were announced on July 14.

Akram's parents are natives of the occupied Palestinian city of Haifa. He was born in Aleppo, north of Syria.

Hundreds of displaced Palestinian refugees in/from Syria have achieved success stories, despite the traumatic upshots wrought by the daily scenes of bloodshed and destruction across the embattled Syrian territories.

This includes scores of refugee students who have obtained the highest scores at their academic institutions; hundreds of refugee sportsmen/sportswomen who snatched the first places in regional and international competitions; dozens of artists who received renowned literary awards for their products and performances; and several housewives who turned trauma into a space of creativity.

Along similar lines, UNRWA in Syria said 89.9% of the 4,535 students registered with the Agency in Syria passed their exams while other schools in the war-torn country got a success rate of 76.23%.

UNRWA's Director of Syria Operations Michael Amanyia congratulated the students for their outstanding academic results which are signs of perseverance and iron will despite the challenges posed by the 11-year conflict and the novel coronavirus.

At the same time, over 96% of Palestinian refugee students from AlNeirab and Handarat camps, north of Syria, made it in the 9th grade national exams.

In another development, the health department chief in northern Syria said a clinic will be established in the near future to provide much-needed healthcare services for displaced families sheltered in Deir Ballout and AlMuhamamdiya camps, north of Syria.

The official added that an ambulance will be dispatched to the area to transfer patients to and back from the camps.

Syrian and Palestinian refugees sheltered in the displacement camps of AlMuhammadiya and Deir Ballout, in the northern Syrian province of Aleppo, continue to grapple with squalid conditions due to the absence of vital services, particularly healthcare.

At a time when coronavirus continues to claim the lives of thousands of people in the region and the world, only one clinic has been operative in the area, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Patients and emergency cases cannot be taken outside the camps as no ambulance is available in the area.

For many displaced Palestinian refugees, the perils of coronavirus add to the torment already experienced throughout the conflict.

High rates of unemployment and lack of relief assistance have made the situation far worse for the displaced families.

Meanwhile, the Popular Conference for Palestinians Abroad launched on Thursday July 15 the National Solidarity Campaign II to support Palestinian refugees in camps and shelters set up in foreign countries.

The campaign has just seen the day in Yarmouk Camp, south of Damascus, which represents a living witness to the Palestinian refugee plight.

The Conference's coordination chief Mohamed Msheinash said food baskets and relief items will be distributed to the vulnerable families in Yarmouk Camp and other Palestinian refugees in the diaspora.
