Latest Developments

In appeals published on her Facebook page, Palestinian activist Fatima Jaber urged Palestine's Ambassador to Turkey, the human rights NGOs, and all concerned institutions to join forces in order to pressurize the Turkish authorities to release a Palestinian family from Syria whose members have been detained for over seven days running.

Jaber said Hoda Abdul Rahim Abdullah, her daughter Nahla Mohamed Alyan, and her sons Mohamed Ayman Daouah, aged three, and one-year-old toddler Omar Ayman Daouah, disappeared on April 11 on their way to Greece via the Turkish borders.

On Monday, the father was told that the family members have been detained by the Turkish gendarmerie inside a detention camp in Edirne's forests, west of Turkey. The family had also reportedly been subjected to a property-theft assault on the migration route. The Turkish gendarmerie allegedly smashed their mobile phones to prevent them from reaching out to other parties.

According to the activist, toddler Omar was transferred to a hospital on Monday, April 15, after heavy rains fell on his vulnerable body. He is in a critical condition.

In another development, hundreds of displaced Palestinian families sheltered in AlBadawi Camp, in the northern Lebanese city of Tripoli, have launched cries for help over the security mayhem rocking the area due to the uncontrolled circulation of weapons.

On Monday, a Syrian national was reportedly shot and injured in his leg by two unidentified gunmen, sparking panic among civilians, particularly children.

Palestinian refugees taking shelter in the camp have appealed to the local popular committees to make urgent steps in response to the arbitrary shootouts carried out by gunmen in the camp.

Statistics conducted by local NGOs documented a remarkable decrease in the number of Palestinian families from Syria sheltered in AlBadawi Camp owing to the life-threatening security turmoil along with the dire socio-economic conditions and ambivalent legal status endured by the displaced families.

Meanwhile, a Palestinian family continues to appeal for information over the fate of Palestinian refugee Ahmad Faysal Darwish, who has been secretly locked up in Syrian state prisons for the sixth consecutive year.

Ahmad, a resident of AlHajar AlAswad, in Rif Dimashq, was kidnapped on February 11, 2013 at the Batikha checkpoint, set up at the entrance to Yarmouk Camp. His condition and whereabouts have been shrouded in mystery.

AGPS documented the detention of 1,748 Palestinian refugees in Syrian state dungeons, among them 107 women and dozens of minors.

In the meantime, members of Haytham Melhem Club, from AlNeirab Camp for Palestinian refugees, won 11 medals as part of Aleppo's Karate Championship held on April 12 and 13 in AlAssad Sports Arena, the 2nd largest indoor sports hall in Aleppo.

Dozens of displaced Palestinian refugees have achieved success stories, despite of the traumatic upshots wrought by daily scenes of bloodshed and destruction across the embattled Syrian territories.

In another development, UNRWA has delivered cash aids to the Palestinians of Syria in Lebanon via ATM cards.

Every Palestinian family from Syria received a rental allowance of $100 and a food allowance worth 27$ per every refugee.

Some 28,000 Palestinian refugees from Syria seeking shelter in Lebanon have been subjected to dire socio-economic conditions and a precarious legal status as the Lebanese authorities continue to rebuff their appeals for legal visas and access to the local labor market.
