Latest Developments

Sporadic clashes between ISIS and Fatah AlSham have been ongoing since predawn time on Friday in Yarmouk Camp. At the same time, ISIS released a video recording of the infiltrators who claimed responsibility for the latest blasts against Fatah AlSham.

Dozens were pronounced dead and others wounded, on both sides, in the simmering clashes. The health situation and living conditions have also sharply deteriorated in the besieged camp.

In the meantime, reports have emerged on the intent of the opposition battalions in Yalda to close off the main access road to the camp until the hostilities are over.

In another development, the Syrian government forces continue to drag Palestinian refugees to mandatory military conscription, forcing dozens to become internally displaced and dozens more to seek refuge in countries.

According to activists, the Palestinian refugees have been reluctant to join the pro-regime Palestine Liberation Army (PLA) after it turned out that the latter has been involved in war crimes against civilians all the way through the Syrian warfare.

Other refugees expressed their unyielding commitment to neutrality and disarmament in the raging conflict, believing that the Israeli occupation is their sole enemy.

According to field activists, several Palestinian conscripts were killed by the opposition outfits while fighting alongside the government troops.

Hundreds of refugees have been kidnapped at government-run checkpoints and forced to carry out mandatory conscription. Dozens more were kidnapped from their homes and shelters to that very end.

At least 203 PLA fighters were killed since the outburst of the Syrian conflict. Others who broke away from the group and joined the opposition outfits were also killed as they fought against the government troops. Dozens have, meanwhile, died under torture in Syrian regime lock-ups and others, mostly dissidents, were killed by the government forces.

Meanwhile, the Palestinian refugee Omar Ibrahim Daraji, kidnapped from a government checkpoint in Qudsaya, in Rif Dimashq, has had a mysterious fate in Syrian government jails, where he has been held for the third consecutive year.

The missing refugee had been taking shelter in Yarmouk Camp. His family members and friends continue to appeal for information.

AGPS documented the internment of 1,187 Palestinians in Syrian regime prisons, among whom 87 female refugees.
