Victims

22-year-old Palestinian refugee Karam Al-Assadi, sheltered in the rural Damascus area of Al-Hama, was tortured to death in Syrian government prisons, where he had been held for three years.

Al-Assadi was arrested in 2013 on his way to Lebanon, seeking a safer shelter.

AGPS documented the death of 456 Palestinian refugees under torture in Syrian regime lock-ups.

Palestinian refugee Yassine Mohamed Fayadh, enlisted at the Palestine Liberation Army (PLA), was also killed in deadly clashes between the Syrian regime battalions and the opposition outfits in Tel Sawan, in Damascus Outskirts.

The refugee was a resident of Al-Sayida Zeinab Camp, in Rural Damascus. His death brings the number of PLA casualties to 191.

Latest Developments

Residents of Khan Al-Sheih Camp have raised concerns over their fate after armed opposition outfits retreated to Idlib city, in northern Syria, following a deal struck with the Syrian government forces.

AGPS news correspondent also said a number of refugee families displaced to Zakia town regained access to the camp pending their transfer to Idlib as of Sunday evening.

The Syrian government dispatched buses to transfer civilians from Khan Al-Sheih to the adjacent Nestlé Factory pending their transfer to Idlib.

Residents of Khan Al-Sheih have run out of food items and medical kit due to the tough blockade imposed for over two months.

Meanwhile, AGPS on-the-spot reporter said three mortar shells were slammed into the Al-Neirab Camp for Palestinian refugees in Aleppo during the funeral procession of the pro-regime Liwa Al-Quds military commander, Mohamed Rafaa, killed on Sunday in Aleppo clashes with opposition squads.

One of the mortar shells targeted Rafea's funeral procession while the second was dropped on a civilian home, resulting in critical injuries. The third shell hit Al-Tawabeen Mosque.

Al-Neirab Camp has been the permanent target of military onslaughts by the different warring actors due to its strategic proximity to Al-Neirab Military Airport.

In a related development, Palestinian refugee families in southern Damascus have been grappling with a trouble-stricken situation trying to secure firewood with the advent of a freezing winter season.

A local activist said refugees' need of firewood is no less vital than their need of life-saving food packages.

Activists sounded the alarm over the swift price hike, forcing refugees to purchase firewood at up to 100 Syrian Liras in Yalda, Babila, Beit Sahem, where thousands of Palestinian refugees displaced from Yarmouk Camp have been taking cover.

In Yarmouk a kilogram of firewood is estimated at 35 Syrian Liras. A family needs an average of 20 kilograms of firewood per day to cope with frosty temperatures.

Refugees displaced from Yarmouk and the impoverished residents of southern Damascus called for allowing a free entry of fuel and gas reserves urgently needed for heating and cooking.

Civil Action Committees

The Furqan Charity on Sunday handed out winter jackets to a number of Palestinian-Syrian children in Al-Sanabil Kindergarten in Ein Al-Hilweh camp, in the southern Lebanese city of Sidon.

Despite its moribund resources, the Furqan Charity continues to provide cash assistance and food packages to residents of Ein Al-Hilweh, housing some 726 displaced families.
